

8th Army Now Right at Heels Rommel Forces

Muss trail. Their retreat cut off, the Axis troops now can be mopped up and the Allies have the job of hacking away at the fleeing main force continues.

Tonight, the British bulletin said there was "intense activity" between advance elements in Libya and the front line that Gen. Montgomery was striving to smash any attempted stand by Rommel at El Agheila. The British were bringing up of turning on his tormentors short of Tripoli.

RETREAT 600 MILES
With the main German army's been driven, it had already to have reached the El Agheila area, the Axis retreat had now covered nearly 600 miles in the 19 days since the British infantry and tanks broke the encirclement at Alamein.

Counting the time it took the Allies to breach the Africa Corps line at El Alamein, their accomplish- ments in Libya have been ap- proached in 28 days what it took Gen. Archibald Wavell 50 days to do in North Africa in 1941.

Gen. Montgomery's forces are all the more remarkable because he has had to do more in less time than Gen. Wavell, who started at Matruh but Gen. Montgomery's forces have been strengthened his been greater.

The mass of the broken Axis army apparently had reached the favor of the British, who were provided by the bottleneck in the El Agheila area, some 70 miles farther along the coastal road southwest from Ardeal.

These humbled remnants of the army which had fled into Egypt to the safety of British ports of Alexandria and the Nile Valley itself were again favored by poor fortune, as they were compelled to witness the usual Allied punishment of the retreating Axis columns.

The president left off a long debate on the question with a re-statement of the position and a resolution that the executive has taken in the past.

Wheat Holiday Is Advocated For Prairies

McLean, director of the Canadian Wheat Pool and the Alberta Wheat Pool when he addressed the 30th annual convention of the Alberta association of Municipal Districts here yesterday.

Fewer Trimmings

A special edition of the official Canada Gazette, issued by the War-Time Prices and Trade Board has been directed to curtail and eliminate non-essential civilian occupations, in order that the full manpower of the country may be employed in the war effort. The board gives notice that civilian goods which can be done without must be expected to grow scarcer. Only supplies necessary to the health, efficiency and morale of the nation can be continued.

The war is not news to the public. What it means is that the national standard of living is to be stripped of trimmings and people required to live on a plain scale. This is not what anyone would like to see, but it does not admit of compromise. There will be increased difficulties for merchants to face as they find it impossible to replace goods of some kinds which would be readily saleable. This is not what they get along without, though they have thought necessary but which are in reality luxuries.

Assurance is given that this will be carried out in a way to avoid discrimination, between merchants, customers and service men. In circumstances is about all that can be looked for. Nothing matters now but victory. —V.

Exit Petain

In a hasty and lawless supreme dictation of power, Marshal Petain has bowed himself off the stage. He is no longer the dictator nor the administrator. These powers he has passed to Laval's hands. He may, or he may not, still be allowed to walk the earth in his quiet, but well deserved, repose.

That was extreme criticism. But it was no more extreme than the current heresy that education is suggest something to totalitarians as to the best way to treat people can get along together. It will certainly end the over-run nations. Ensure that the democratic way of life is something worth fighting for.

The road has been built as a military road to war-time. But it could have been no war, whenever our neighbors might think they needed this line of communication through Canada for the security of their nation. The road was in fact planned long before Pearl Harbor and would in all probability have been built within a decade or so if that act of black treachery had not been perpetrated.

For this highway is a symbol, as well as a road to war-time. But it could have been two million dollar monument to the good neighborliness which has existed, does exist, and will continue to exist, between the peoples of Canada and the United States. The road will be the road, because at the moment they need it most. But when the war is over Canada will maintain it, at no expense to them, but available to them at all times.

Who can fail to understand that when in happier days the automobile and the bicycle brought together and fastened along this great new highway into unexplored territory, the contacts thus made will stimulate and strengthen the international good-will which made its construction possible? —V.

It is disclosed that Canadian warships have done 45 per cent of the work of conveying transports from the Dominion to Britain and to Russia. This makes it hard to sense the fact that three years ago we had only a half dozen or so warships.

Marshal Petain has "fired" Admiral Darlan. Petain being within reach of the general and other reasons, that will do something to build up the Darian prestige among the Allies. —V.

Alberta District News in Brief

Bus Service Will Operate In Rocky Area

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

Following representations made by the local board of trade to the federal transport controller, the daily bus service between Rocky and Red Deer will be continued, as the trip is only 54 miles.

The federal controller effective Nov. 15 has ordered that bus travel not to more than 50 miles a day on one continuing journey.

The board of trade pointed out that discontinuance of bus service in this region would work a hardship on the district, as mixed trains run only once a day.

Seniors' Bus Lines have been operating here for nine years.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Rocky is still digging itself out of the worst blizzard any resident can remember. No car, trucks, teams were in use. Two caravans with some traffic returned Tuesday. The highway out to Red Deer that had been closed for 10 days and which huge piles of snow on it that the usual two-hour bus run took 20 hours.

Country schools were closed for from one to three days. There was a great demand for coal in town, but no one could afford to pick it.

The blizzard has caused following effects and skips: President Harold Nyren, vice-president, Harold Kilkis; secretary-treasurer, Roy Charland; skins — Dr. C. Green; skins — Mrs. Harold Nyren; Roy Charland, Harold Nyren.

Rickey Drops Poker Limit As One of First Official Acts

By JACK CUDY

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(BUP)—Branch Rickey, who gave up "Cards" to become president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, found himself almost engulfed in a swirl of pasteboards he minute he set foot on the banks of the Gowanus.

Accordingly, one of his first official acts was the dropping of the 50-cent poker limit among the Dodger players from the somewhat fabulous $8 a friend to $5. Rickey was not sure what made whether the house would take a cut, but such a move would not be a bad idea, he said, since the great economist, ever watchful of his club's interests.

We who have played 25-cent poker, and who have brought over our losses that we went home and continued to play and lose in order to get back the money we lost, what happened to those poor Dodger boys in the closing stages of the 1944 season? They were still in the club's amazing $8 limit but had been beaten.

An amateur poker game is big-time stuff—a torrid pastime which, when played daily or nightly, could start a man on the road to becoming a banker with leprosy in his veins. No wonder the 1944 Brooklyn squad, after a year of such high-stakes expensive poker and gin running, lost their 10-game lead in the division to the Cards.

They lost to the Cards all right.

To the Cards that whatever about tables, gloves, hats, in their rooms and even in their own dressing quarters.

FIVE CENTS A POINT

Card poker usually was played in the clubhouse dressing quarters, where it was not unusual for as many as 100 gamblers to be present.

Blackfriars' road to Jiminy, 50, won his first match there in his career at the same time.

His manager was worried about his frail appearance and suggested it would be a risk for Jiminy to give him more fights.

Dan demurred, however, because he had a strong desire to prove his strength and of many contests he had won previously, including the 1943 and 1944 amateur travelling booth in South Wales.

Now the association has been dissolved.

The Dodgers are one of the greatest gambling crews in major league history.

They did not limit their actions to the card room, however, as they bet on the horses, frequenting the race-tracks in their days off. It must have been a thrill to see the ship—this belonging to the R.A.F. bombing of 1942 and 1944. (Yes, they gamblers in '41 when Durocher admitted.)

CAMILLI ESCAPED

Yet, strangely enough, Dolph Camilli, one of the few gamblers who did not have a risk of being sent to the contest at Liverpool was not allowed to continue with the Durocher crew.

Both of the other lads hope to stage a financial come-back in the games of chance.

It is not known whether the end of the poker limit must come as a severe blow.

Branch, officially retained as manager for next season, has promised faithfully to ride herd on the card room, however, and will be sure to keep the card games within the limits of relaxation. Someone inquired, "What's the difference?" Durocher.

The answer of course was, "Rickey."

16-year-old Branch actually can return Leo-the-Lip and his take-a-cool-noonie attitude to the card room, along with an ordinary human, but with a band of supermen, who apparently have no such inhibitions, the game will be a bore.

These must be miracle men who have won the pennant in '41 and clicked off 161 victories in '42, meanwhile, lagging a gambling hand, the men have had to burn down most mortals and send them to sanitarians. V

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REVEREND T. B. McDORMAND
of the Baptist Union of Western Canada

"On Leaving Western Canada"

The Editor has invited me to use this space for a "farewell" personal word prior to my departure from Western Canada. In his courteous suggestion a distinct privilege.

I have lived in Alberta for twelve years—four years as a public school teacher, four years as minister of an Edmonton church, and four years as Field Secretary of the Western Christian Council. My first years, beginning with 1921, were marked by an inflationary period, inaccurately called prosperity. My next years, ending with 1933, were marked by the trough of the depression. My last four-year period has included the present global war. Through these years of change and of hard times, I have been a member of Western Canada. These "new" years are unequalled in spirit. They live for the future and make the best out of their present.

The uncertainty and transience of modern times have made thinkers of the people of the West. They are critical and analytical and utterly unbiased by precedent. They have created a revolution in all realms of life. No. Major social experiments have naturally found root in the West, and for years to come these great plains of ours shall be the laboratory of the world. Our vibrant democracy shall never be friendly to selfish individualism in business or government, to stupid class distinctions, to the exploitation of the poor, to the exploitation of a great host of our people are enjoying a freedom unknown to their parents in feudal Europe. The West is the laboratory of the world. Our vibrant democracy shall never be friendly to selfish individualism in business or government, to stupid class distinctions, to the exploitation of the poor, to the exploitation of a great host of our people are enjoying a freedom unknown to their parents in feudal Europe. The West is the laboratory of the world.

I hope now, as a Christian teacher, I hope for vital religious experiences in the West. Christian education. There should be some pioneering in the field of inter-denominational co-operation as the church seeks to serve the needs of the people of the West. The church through its ministers and laymen should give tone and direction to the social reconstruction of the years ahead. The West is the laboratory of the world. Our vibrant democracy shall never be friendly to selfish individualism in business or government.

I hope for the day when the church will fill a larger place in the community life of the West. This day will only come as a result of a constructive realization of the church's mission, of the need for the emergence of a new present day rural and urban community life. As a result of my recent participation in twenty United Christian meetings, I have come to the conclusion that a new generation will be made. Please God there are days of gathering strength ahead for the Christian church, the historic institution which moulds our souls.

As I go to the West I can't leave the West in my heart. As the Editor of Canadian Bilingual News I seek the continuing goodwill and co-operation of the people of Edmonton, and of Alberta in general, with whom I have in the past worked. In the new work I shall continue to serve the West, and this realization does much to mitigate the regret of leaving.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. McDormand has been appointed editor of Canadian Bilingual News, a monthly publication, offered to the people of the West. For the past four years he has been director of church school and young people's work for the church in the Edmonton area. He has been a member of the executive committee of Stratcona Baptist church, and one of the most vital forces in the up-building of the church in this city.

There's Plenty of Beef for World's Best Fed Army on Rangelands of West Old Hands Do Most of Cow Punching Since Young Ones Joined the Forces

Here's one of the great ranches of Western Canada which help supply the men of Canada's fighting forces with more than 21,000 tons of beef a year. It is the ranch of the Douglas Lake Cattle Company, with an area of 500,000 acres.

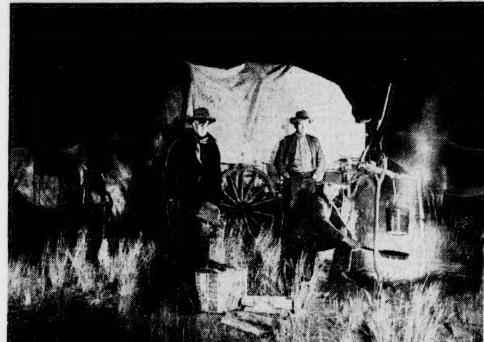

Sage of the ranch is American-born Edwin Godley who hails from Boonville, Ind. He's been with the ranch since 1890 except for spell with the Cariboo Express.

You're now looking at real cowboys who have neither the time nor the desire to yodel a ditty or strum a guitar after the day's work is done. Instead they repair equipment and turn in early. They're up and out at first peep of dawn.

Joe Coutlee, range boss at the Douglas Lake ranch, rolls himself a cigarette while his men rest a herd. When an order comes in, cattle are "cut out" from herd of 10,000.

Out on the range the working day is seldom over until darkness arrives. Then the cowhands gather around the chuck-wagon and set up a camp for the night. They are shown here cooking their supper over the blaze of their small fire.

Here's able ranch foreman Findlay Anderson, on six month's extension from army call-up when this photo was taken. The bulk of the work on the ranches these days is being carried on by older men. Note prize ribbons won by his stock.

"Praise the cow punchers and pass the beef!" say the men of the world's best fed army as they sit at the mess table in one of Canada's many training camps and tear into a first class meal. Good meals help make Canadians good soldiers.

From the rangelands of the Canadian West to the army kitchens goes the beef in a never-ending stream. Receiving their equal share of good food are the navy and the airforce. Although they are famed for their lusty appetites, Canadian fighting men never have to leave the table hungry. No small portion of the credit should go to the men on the range, who do their share to keep our soldiers healthy.

A Letter from Home

A typical scene in Edmonton on Monday, Nov. 16, after Sunday's record-breaking snowfall of 19 and one-half inches. Above is Jasper Avenue looking west from 100A Street.

Regulations forbid individuals sending newspapers overseas. The Edmonton Bulletin prints the news of the week in letter form. This week's letter covers the period from November 16 to 21. Clip it out and send it to your newspaper.

Dear

Things have been happening in rapid-fire order on the Home Front this week. The big news, of course, is the record-breaking storm that visited the city and district on Sunday, depositing a total of 19 and one-half inches of snow. Edmonton's street car and automobile traffic was paralyzed Sunday and Monday, and citizens were forced to be on foot. People had to walk through high drifts in many places in order to get to their places of business. Another highlight of the week's events was the final opening of the new bridge, built by a party of dignitaries from both Canada and the United States. However, more about that a little later. Now we go on with the day-by-day account of the news.

Monday

All provincial government snowplow equipment was spending northward today as Edmonton and districts continued digging out of the worst blizzard in the city's history. The snow was blowing in on the wings of a chill north wind Sunday, entirely disrupted all business activity and thousands of citizens were forced to walk. The railway traffic was tied up Sunday and the tie-up continued today, and there was little hope that the city would be able to get out of the snowdrifts until Tuesday or Wednesday at the earliest. Seven street cars went off the track yesterday in various parts of the city, and all traffic was held up for two hours, passengers having to drifts were also delayed.

Businesses and dairy houses continued to conserve their supplies of bread and milk as much as possible since there was little likelihood that regular house-to-house deliveries could be made for several days. The Royal Canadian Air Force planes from country points as all roads leading to the city were blocked. The official snowfall yesterday was 19½ inches.

Although the plow's way to work on foot, Autos that dared the stormy roads were abandoned in high drifts all over the city. Schools were ordered closed and many places of business did not even open.

A vigorous protest was begun against the lack of government action when the price of gasoline in Alberta was to be increased for more than two weeks because of a dispute about the price at which processed oil is sold. The executive of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Health Federation passed a resolution to this effect.

Commencing today all liquor stores in Alberta closed at 5 p.m. Instead, last night, liquor rationing went into force here with a maximum daily individual purchase of liquor of 10 ounces, exclusive of purchases of beer, or wine.

Here are your weekend hockey scores in the N.H.L.: Chicago 5, Toronto 4; Detroit 3, Montreal 1; Boston 4, Rangers 3; Chicago 4, Toronto 3; Boston 5, Rangers 3.

Tuesday

Well, we are still digging ourselves out of Sunday's snowstorm and the temperatures are ranging around the eight below mark. Business life is getting back to normal again, although some disruption continues as the transportation system struggles with drifted streets. Trolley buses went back on the line this morning, and a few hundred cars were operating along Jasper Avenue. There is no service in outlying districts and the South Hill, where the high level bridge is still out of service.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of health and national health, arrived here from Ottawa today, and after a short interview took up for Whitehorse, Y.T., in a C.A.P. Airlines plane. He will represent the Dominion at the official opening of the Alaska-Yukon exhibition.

The war will vitally affect civic service during 1943. That is what Major John F. P. Tait told the members of the Edmonton Civic Service Association by the 14th. Major Tait, a native of Ottawa, Edmonton is credited with a population of 30,314, or 4,813 more than Calgary's total of 25,500. He's a bit of interesting information. In Edmonton there are more females than males. Total number of males is 16,276, while females number 17,838.

Some clearance costs and loss of revenue to the street railway department during the two days it was entirely out of operation owing to snow tie-up, will cost the city between $40,000 and $50,000, in the opinion of the manager. The manager, however, although no accurate figures can be obtained as to loss to city merchants and industrial houses due to the snowdrifts, estimates that the amount in thousands of dollars turn-over was lost to the city by rail traffic.

Thousands of city school boys were into action today in city school grounds, clearing the sidewalks and making lanes through the grounds to the schools. The city and district had a loss of $10,000, residents continuing digging themselves out, and the while we were in for another heavy blizzard, or at least a brief snowfall featured the morning, but it was not long duration although it was heavy while it lasted.

The G. E. Swallow thinks there is a definite need for education of parents regarding the proper nour-

Farm Labor is Discussed at Meeting Here

The whole farm labor situation, particularly as it will effect 1943 operations, was under review at a conference of farm laborers, economists and officials of the Alberta department of agriculture at the Legislative Building in Edmonton, according to a report received from Hon. D. B. MacMillan, minister of agriculture. The conference will continue Saturday.

Those attending the meeting included O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture, and W. C. MacNamara, supervisor of the extension branch of the department of agriculture.

LIVESTOCK PROBLEM

It was learned from Mr. Longman Friday that the shortage of farm labor and prevailing weather conditions are having a detrimental effect on livestock production in Alberta. "Unless the situation brightens, we will have to take some emergency steps to prevent the situation from getting worse," he said.

It was reported that much of the livestock market supply is being held up in the northern part of the province.

CONDITIONS POOR

Mr. Longman stated that the zoology department was unable to recommend the planting of any type of fish and from those directions, it is a question of what there was a very low supply of oxygen and no food on the lake bottom.

It seems that a whole new field of study is opened up to us, a realm of great ignorance about the effects of weather changes on human behavior.
